Publications:

-- The Mecca was Chicago, The Editor’s Choice, Adam Matthew Digital Primary Source Collections (October 1, 2015).

J. Matthias Starck and Daniel G. Blackburn, eds. “Fetal Nutritional Adaptations.” Journal of Morphology, online issue: August 2015.

-- “Las geografías inestables de Jia Zhangke (o como habitar la China de hoy)”. In Informe Escaleno (August 30 2015).

-- “Understanding and addressing Anti-Semitism on College Campuses.” Noodle (March 25, 2015).

---

Trinity Digital Repository: http://digitalrepository.trincoll.edu/facpub/144

  Trinity Digital Repository: http://digitalrepository.trincoll.edu/facpub/137/

  Trinity Digital Repository: http://digitalrepository.trincoll.edu/facpub/142

  Trinity Digital Repository: http://digitalrepository.trincoll.edu/facpub/145

Conference Papers/Presentations:

--- “University-Community Relations in the Urban U.S.” City and Society International Forum, Tongji University, Shanghai, China, April 9, 2015.

Xiangming Chen. “Commercial Development from Below: A Portrait of Shanghai Through the Tianzifang Shopping Area.” Conference on Shanghai, a [Self] Portrait, organized by the School of Doctorate of IUAV, University of Venice, and the Confucius Institute at Ca’ Foscari, University of Venice, Venice, Italy, May 28, 2015.

--- “The ‘Broken Windows’ of Rosa Ramos: Race, Gender, & Imminent Violability in the Neoliberal City.” Association for American Geographers Annual Meeting, Chicago, IL, April 22, 2015.

Jeff Pruyne ’15, Ming-Tao Lee, Csaba Fábri, Amaia Beloqui Redondo, Armin Kleibert, Markus Ammann, Matthew Brown, and Maria Krisch. “Surface Characterization of Formic Acid

Vijay Prashad. “Great Moving Right Show of Indian Politics.” University of Cincinnati, Cincinnati, OH, April 1, 2015.

-- “Wave-Trace Methods on Singular Spaces.” Geometry Colloquium, Dartmouth University, Hanover, NH, May 26, 2015.

Performances/Exhibits/Screenings:

Grants/Fellowships:

Brett Barwick, “Travel to: Materials Science and Technology 2015 (MS&T15) Symposium, Columbus, OH,” Connecticut Space Grant College Consortium Faculty Travel Grant, October 2015, $1,000.

Alison Draper (Co-PI) and Robert Cotto, in collaboration with colleagues from Vassar College, Bryn Mawr College and Brown University. “Summer STEM Teaching Experiences for Undergraduates from Liberal Arts Institutions,” National Science Foundation, AY2016-AY2020, $2,137,727.

Andrea Dyrness and Robert Cotto, with colleagues from Saint Joseph University, Central CT State University, University of Hartford, and Capital Community College, “Latino Community Engagement within and across Institutions,” Hartford Consortium for Higher Education, $2,500.

Sheila Fisher and Judy Dworin, in collaboration with the Trinity Prison Seminar Series, the Judy Dworin Performance Project, Community Partners in Action/Resettlement House, and Manchester and Capital Community Colleges, have developed “Free to Succeed,” a holistic program of education and support for women from York Correctional Institution, both while they are in prison and upon release. The pilot program is the recipient of a grant from the Aurora Foundation for Women and Girls, $20,000.

Ariela Keysar, “U.S. Component of the Young Adults and Religion in a Global Perspective (YARG) International Project,” Centre of Excellence in Research, Åbo Akademi University, Finland, $18,600, September 2015-May 2016.

Honors & Awards:

Christopher Hager is Visiting Fellow, Willson Center for Humanities & Arts, University of Georgia, 2015-2016.

Christina Heatherton was a finalist for the American Studies Association, 2015 Constance M. Rourke Prize for best published essay in American Studies.

John Platoff was elected to the Board of Directors of the Mozart Society of America.

Robin Price was a finalist for the Minnesota Center for Book Arts Prize 2015.

Madalene Spezialetti’s film “Happy Times” (Director, Producer, Writer, Editor, Cinematographer), was the winner of the Audience Choice Award, Carnegie Museum of Art 2-Minute Film Festival, Pittsburgh, PA, July 9, 2015.

James Trostle was named a Professor in the School of Public Health, Faculty of Medicine, at the University of Chile in Santiago.

Other Professional Accomplishments:

Samuel D. Kassow served as Scholar in Residence during a trip to Eastern Europe by the Board of Directors of the Center of Jewish History (New York), June 24-July 6, 2015.

Samuel D. Kassow taught the Master Class (in Yiddish) “Ghetto Reportage” for graduate students of Tel Aviv University and the Hebrew University, Israel, June 18, 2015.

Susan A. Masino has joined the board of the Lennox-Syndrome Foundation.

Miguel D. Ramirez was Visiting Professor at Yale University, summer 2015.

