PUBLISHER'S NOTE: In each issue of Medical Industry Employment Opportunities™ (MIEO), we attempt to include job listings in virtually all key medical industry job categories, at all levels, nationwide and occasionally outside the US.

Regarding address, phone, fax and related contact information, we publish as much of this as we can possibly track down. However, in almost every issue, despite many hours or effort, some of these details cannot be obtained and/or confirmed. It therefore could not be included since we couldn't find it, so please don't call us to ask for a phone number in such cases—we don't have it. This is especially true for new start-up companies that are in practically every issue of MIEO, or blind ads.

Please be aware that we immediately enter job announcements in our database for inclusion in MIEO, up to the day each issue is published. We publish the job announcements and mail them to you just as fast as humanly possible—it can't be done any faster than it already is, given the twice-a-month publication schedule for MIEO.

But occasionally, a job will be filled prior to your receiving and/or responding to that announcement — especially in high demand, high volume fields like biomed/service engineers, sales & now regulatory affairs/QA/QC. Often these have shorter interview processes.

We accept no responsibility, and will not grant a refund of your subscription, in cases where someone else was already hired by the time you got around to contacting the company doing the hiring.

WE DO NOT GUARANTEE THE JOB WILL STILL BE OPEN BY THE TIME YOU RESPOND, OR THAT THE COMPANY WILL ACKNOWLEDGE YOUR LETTER. Obviously, the more time that elapses before you contact the company regarding an open position, the more likely it is that the position will have already been filled.

The inclusion of particular categories of job openings, the number within each category or the location of positions, is strictly dependent on what jobs are currently being offered by the various firms and organizations.

Thus, these numbers will vary with each issue. Also, announcements are not repeated.

Some issues of MIEO may have many listings in the job title area and/or geographic region you seek, while other issues may not. This is a normal pattern. The nonappearance of such listings in a particular issue or issues is not a legitimate reason for granting refunds to buyers of MIEO.

In addition, certain regions of the U.S., especially key manufacturing states such as NY, NJ, TX, FL, IL, MN and particularly CA, which is currently the largest region for medical manufacturing in the world, will usually correspondingly have the largest number of job openings.

Other states, such as Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota, Maine, Vermont or Idaho, for example, because they have virtually no medical manufacturers whatsoever, will have practically no job openings announced in MIEO. Therefore, what appears in MIEO is primarily based on supply.

According to our exclusive research and analysis, since California-based medical manufacturers currently get more new products approved by the FDA than the next 3-5 states combined on a monthly average, the number of new job openings at these companies has been and will continue to lead the nation for the foreseeable future.

However, we do go to great lengths and expense to try to get job listings included from many other states.

The job openings reported are believed to be legitimate. MIEO accepts no responsibility or liability for errors, claims, salaries, misinterpretation/errors of the job description, etc., made in the job listing, changes in the job description, or any other such factors that are beyond the control of the publisher.

MIEO* does not claim, warranty, guarantee or accept responsibility for whether buyers of MIEO find a job — or whether a position has already been filled prior to your responding to the job announcement in MIEO.

NOTICE TO MIEO READERS

Even though MIEO rushes to publish these job announcements, in some instances, some positions may have already been filled by the time you receive your copy in the mail—or, you delay too long in responding.

We make extensive efforts to prevent this from happening, which is another reason why we publish MIEO twice a month — not once a month. We apologize if a position is filled quickly, but that is something that is solely within the control of the organization doing the hiring — not MIEO.
