Carol Muske-Dukes is the author of Camouflage; Applause; An Octave Above Thunder; Sparrow, which was a National Book Award finalist; and Twin Cities. In addition to poetry, Muske-Dukes has published two collections of essays, including Married to the Icepick Killer: A Poet in Hollywood, and the novels Life after Death and Channeling Mark Twain. For her work, she has received the Alice Fay Di Castagnola Award, an Ingram-Merrill grant, several Pushcart Prizes, as well as fellowships from the National Endowment for the Arts and the Guggenheim Foundation. Since 1993, Muske-Dukes has taught at the University of Southern California, where she founded the Ph.D. program in creative writing and literature. She was California’s state poet laureate from 2008-2011.

A reception and book signing will follow the reading.