

Public Humanities Summer Research Jobs in Hartford

Students: Apply by Tuesday February 19th for summer research jobs in Hartford through Trinity's Public Humanities Collaborative. Up to 16 students will be funded to work full-time in teams of 2 or more for 10 weeks from May 20-July 26. During this program, students will:

- Work as a research assistant for a faculty member on a scholarly project for 15 hours/week
- Intern with a Hartford-area organization on a public humanities exhibit, project, or event for 15 hours/week
- Attend weekly workshops on digital tools and community partnerships

Students selected for this program will receive a $3500 stipend plus 10 weeks of free housing at Trinity.

To apply:

- Read faculty and community partner proposals to find projects.
- Contact the faculty you are interested in working with to set up a meeting and discuss their project.
- Apply through the Summer Research Program website. You will need to indicate which faculty project you want to work on and rank your preferred community partner projects.

For more information, visit our website, <http://cher.trincoll.edu/phc>.