MIRIAM COLÓN-VALLE

Doctor of Humane Letters

Presented by Pablo Delano, Professor of Fine Arts

As a lifetime advocate for equitable access to the arts, the founder of the Puerto Rican Traveling Theater, and a trailblazing stage, film, and television actress, you, Miriam Colón-Valle, are a true Latina icon.

Born and raised in Ponce, Puerto Rico, you started in the theater at the age of 12, and in just three short years, you landed your first feature film role, as Lolita in Los peloteros, or The Ball Players. The movie was a production of the civic-minded DIVEDCO, the Division of Community Education of Puerto Rico, a program that sought to stimulate artistic production. At the urging of your teachers and mentors, you moved to New York City to further your training and gained admission to the Actors Studio after a single audition before famed actor-directors Elia Kazan and Lee Strasberg.

Your stage credits include performances on Broadway and at Minneapolis's Guthrie Theater and Los Angeles's Mark Taper Forum. Your long list of Hollywood credits includes the television series Bonanza, Gunsmoke, and NYPD Blue, as well as the films One-Eyed Jacks and The Appaloosa, both opposite Marlon Brando. You also played Mama Montana in Brian De Palma's Scarface, starring Al Pacino, and had memorable roles in John Sayles's Lone Star and City of Hope, Sydney Pollack's Sabrina, and Billy Bob Thornton's All the Pretty Horses. More recently, you were honored with the Imagen Award for your title role in 2013's Bless Me, Última, Carl Franklin's adaptation of the classic Chicano novel by Rudolfo Anaya.

While garnering success, you remained devoted to the PRTT, the Puerto Rican Traveling Theater, which you launched in 1967 after the successful production of René Marqués's play La Carreta, or The Oxcart, at the Greenwich Mews Theater in New York. The play, also starring Raúl Juliá and Lucy Boscana and directed by the acclaimed Lloyd Richards, tells of a family who migrates from the countryside in Puerto Rico to New York. While performing in that play, you realized that the formal theater setting made the production inaccessible to large segments of the city's population, including many of its economically disadvantaged Spanish-speaking residents. This inspired you to literally take the play to the streets, marking the beginning of the bilingual theater movement. The PRTT is credited with introducing important new voices to the American theater, securing meaningful arts access and participation for all, and establishing a steady Latino presence within the great Broadway Theater District in Times Square.

Your sustained creative activity and humanitarian vision have earned you many awards, including a 2014 National Medal of Arts, which was presented to you by President Barack Obama; a 2004 Lifetime Achievement Award from the National Association of Latino Arts and Cultures; and a 1993 Obie Award for Sustained Excellence of Performance. As you remain an important and highly visible spokesperson for the Latino community and its artists, you are one of the pioneers featured in Visiones: Latino Art & Culture, an award-winning documentary series produced by Hector Galán for PBS.

In recognition of your extraordinary accomplishments as a pioneer of Hispanic theater, helping to open doors for generations of Hispanic actors, as well as your 60-year career in entertainment, I have the honor of presenting you, Miriam Colón-Valle, for the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa.

MICHAEL P. CONFORTI

Trinity College Class of 1968

Doctor of Fine Arts

Presented by Michael C. FitzGerald, Professor of Fine Arts

On the occasion of your retirement last year from the directorship of the Clark Art Institute in Williamstown, Massachusetts, came the announcement of “a fitting tribute to Michael” in the form of a $6.5 million gift from trustees, benefactors, staff, and friends of the Clark. The gift will provide capital and operating support for the museum’s newly named Michael Conforti Pavilion, as well as an endowment to fund academic and public programs held in the space, which will be an enduring architectural testament to your achievements during your 22-year tenure as director of the Clark and to a lifetime devoted to understanding art and to making the visual arts integral to public life.

At Trinity, you majored in fine arts, focusing on art history and graduating with honors in 1968. You then worked in London and New York with Sotheby Parke Bernet, becoming particularly interested in baroque art and the decorative arts and sculpture. You pursued these interests in graduate study at Harvard and a fellowship at the American Academy in Rome. After completing your doctoral dissertation on Italian sculpture of the late 17th and 18th centuries and receiving your Ph.D. in 1977, you worked as a curator at the Fine Arts Museums of San Francisco. In 1980, you became chief curator at the Minneapolis Institute of Arts.

The Clark that greeted you when you arrived in 1994 was a regional museum dedicated to one family’s art collection, living off its endowment, with little fundraising and few public activities. Tasked by the trustees to expand on the Clark’s connection with Williams College by attracting professional art scholars, you expanded the Research and Academic Program, which has seen more than 300 scholars from around the world serve fellowships and now ranks now among the nation’s finest.

Under your leadership, the Clark’s special exhibition programs have won acclaim for rigorous scholarship and for promoting new thinking. You initiated international programs, including a recent worldwide tour of the Clark’s French paintings collection and cultural exchanges with Chinese museums.

With the growth of programming came the need to reconceptualize the Clark’s 140-acre site. You steered the museum through a $145 million expansion that included adding buildings, designed by Pritzker Architecture Prize-winning architect Tadao Ando; refurbishing existing structures; and enhancing the natural surroundings. About the July 2014 opening of the Clark’s expansion, New York Times art critic Roberta Smith noted, “Michael Conforti . . . and his trustees have fashioned their museum into a welcoming, comfortable place, where looking at art is the first order of business, environmental responsibility has become a lived commitment, and education is an increasingly multileveled project.” The renovations garnered the Clark the prestigious Apollo Award for Museum Opening of the Year.

At the same time, you have been a leader in the museum field, serving as president of the Association of Art Museum Directors from 2008 to 2010, as a trustee of four museums in the United States and Canada, and as an adviser to the Hermitage in St. Petersburg, Russia. You have advanced international cultural exchange in a variety of ways, including organizing conferences held in Rome and Salzburg, as well as in this country.

Today you remain close to academia, lecturing widely and teaching at Williams College in the Graduate Program in Art History. Your ties to Trinity have passed to the next generation, as daughter Julia graduates today.

In recognition of your extraordinary accomplishments in museum leadership and in the promotion of the visual arts, arts education, and community involvement with arts institutions, I have the honor of presenting you, Michael P. Conforti, for the degree of Doctor of Fine Arts, honoris causa.

WILLIAM K. MARIMOW

Trinity College Class of 1969

Doctor of Letters

Presented by Craig W. Schneider, Charles A. Dana Professor of Biology

You, Bill Marimow, once wrote that your bonds to your “Trinity friends, to the faculty, and to our college” were “strong and enduring.” We recognize and celebrate those bonds as we honor you today.

It was here 'neath the elms that you formed lifelong friendships and enjoyed the great camaraderie of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity and the genuine satisfaction of serving on the Interfraternity Council. It also was at Trinity that your English professors, including Hugh Ogden and John Dando, nurtured your love of writing and helped you to develop the analytical skills that have proven so valuable in your career.

After graduating from Trinity in 1969 with a bachelor's degree in English, highlighted by several appearances on the Dean's List, you began working at the Evening Bulletin in Philadelphia before joining The Philadelphia Inquirer in 1972. At The Inquirer, you covered a series of beats, winning the Pulitzer Prize for Public Service in 1978, and, seven years later, the Pulitzer Prize for Investigative Reporting. You then moved to The Baltimore Sun, where you served as metro editor, managing editor, and then editor-in-chief. During your time there, The Sun won Pulitzers for feature writing, beat reporting, and investigative reporting and was chosen by Columbia Journalism Review as one of the nation's 10 best newspapers.

You then went to National Public Radio, where you strengthened and expanded the news division, and in 2006, you returned to The Philadelphia Inquirer as editor. In 2011, you joined the faculty of the Walter Cronkite School of Journalism and Mass Communication at Arizona State University, where you shared your immense knowledge of the field with the next generation. The following year brought you back to newspapers when you were recruited to become, once again, the editor of The Philadelphia Inquirer.

Your excellence in journalism has earned you, among numerous other honors, two Silver Gavel Awards from the American Bar Association, two Robert F. Kennedy Journalism Awards, and awards from journalism's honorary society, Sigma Delta Chi. In 1982, you were named a Nieman Fellow at Harvard University.

While you have met with much success and recognition in the professional world, you have made it clear that you value family above all. You have said that your most fulfilling moments were the births of your two children, Ann and Scott, and equally important, you have been married to Diane since 1969.

Even with all of your professional and personal demands, you have remained a steadfast volunteer for Trinity College, which gave you the financial aid necessary to pursue your liberal arts education. You offered your wise counsel and guidance to the College during your time on the Board of Trustees, which you served from 2008 until stepping down last year. Your service to Trinity also has included membership on the Board of Fellows and on the most recent Presidential Search Committee. You have been honored with Trinity's 175th Anniversary Award, the Alumni Achievement Award, and The Eigenbrodt Cup, which recognizes a prominent graduate who has rendered unusual and significant service to the College. You also are a member of The Elms Society.

In recognition of your extraordinary accomplishments in the field of journalism and of your unwavering dedication and loyalty to Trinity College, I have the honor of presenting you, William K. Marimow, for the degree of Doctor of Letters, honoris causa.

Alma Mater:

“’Neath the Elms”

(arranged by Robert E. Smith, Composer-in-Residence)

The Trinity Pipes

’Neath the elms of our old Trinity,	College days are from care and sorrow free.
’Neath the elms of our dear old Trinity,	And oft will we seek in memory
No more shall we meet,	Those days that are past,
Our classmates to greet,	Far too joyous to last,
’Neath the elms of our old Trinity.	’Neath the elms of our old Trinity.

’Neath the elms of our old Trinity.	Then we’ll sing to our old Trinity,
’Neath the elms of our dear old Trinity	To our dear old Alma Mater, Trinity;
Oh it’s seldom we’ll meet,	We’re together today,
In the moonlight so sweet,	And tomorrow away,
’Neath the elms of our old Trinity.	Far away from our old Trinity.

On the hills of our old Trinity,
In the halls of our dear old Trinity,
There is bright merry cheer,
There are friends true and dear,
In the halls of our old Trinity.

The Academic Regalia

In 1895 a commission of leading American educators established the Intercollegiate Code pertaining to the academic costume. The color of the lining of the hood is that of the college or university conferring the degree. The edging of the hood and the tassel of the cap indicate the subject to which the degree pertains, in accordance with the following official designations for colleges and universities in the United States:

Agriculture	Maize
Arts, Letters, Humanities	White
Commerce, Accountancy, Business	Drab
Dentistry	Lilac
Economics	Copper
Education	Light blue
Engineering	Orange
Fine Arts, including Architecture	Brown
Forestry	Russet
Home Economics	Maroon
Journalism	Crimson
Law	Purple
Library Science	Lemon
Medicine	Green
Music	Pink
Nursing	Apricot
Oratory (Speech)	Silver gray
Pharmacy	Olive green
Philosophy	Dark blue
Physical Education	Sage green
Public Administration, including Foreign Service	Peacock blue
Public Health	Salmon pink
Science	Golden yellow
Social Work	Citron
Theology	Scarlet
Veterinary Science	Gray

Trinity College differs from the above list because the colors of Trinity hoods were established prior to the formulation of the Code. Following are the colors of the academic hoods symbolizing the honorary degrees conferred by Trinity:

Doctor of Canon Law Crimson, lined with black	Doctor of Laws Scarlet, lined with dark blue
Doctor of Divinity Scarlet, lined with black	Doctor of Music White, lined with pink
Doctor of Fine Arts White, lined with white and a red chevron	Doctor of Sacred Theology Scarlet, lined with blue and a gold chevron
Doctor of Humane Letters Scarlet, lined with purple	Doctor of Science Black, lined with light blue
Doctor of Letters Scarlet, lined with russet brown	Master of Music Black, lined with pink
Doctor of Humanities White, lined with dark crimson

The Owen Morgan Mace

The mace, which precedes the president in academic processions and is a symbol of executive powers, was presented to Trinity in 1950 in memory of Owen Morgan, Class of 1906, who served his alma mater as a member of the Board of Fellows, as a trustee, and as treasurer of the College. Historically, maces were first used as weapons in warfare and later became a symbol of the sovereign and his power. One of the first known uses of a mace by an educational institution was at Cambridge University in the 13th century. Today a number of colleges use the mace as a symbol of authority and of the power invested in the president by the faculty and trustees. The Morgan Mace is made of ebony, signifying endurance; bronze, meaning power; and gold, symbolizing dignity and glory. It is 44 inches long and weighs 20 pounds. The fluted staff represents the various components of an enduring education. It is bound by a gold ribbon, inscribed with the names of every Trinity president. On the head, or urn, of the mace are six seals of the sources of life and growth of this College: the Great Seal of the United States; the Seal of the State of Connecticut; the Charter Oak; the original seal of the City of Hartford; the Washington Coat of Arms; and the seal of the Episcopal Diocese of Connecticut. Surmounting the Gothic urn is the Trinity College seal crowned by an eagle about to take flight, symbolizing the freedom and power of an educated person.

The Presidential Collar

The collar, which is worn on ceremonial occasions, is the visible symbol of the president's high office and authority. The collar was presented to the College in 1953 by former President G. Keith Funston, Class of 1932, in memory of his grandmother, Maria Briggs Keith. The chain symbolically links modern higher education with the universities of yesteryear. The golden seal of the Trinity president hangs from the collar, which is fashioned of 20 replicas of the Trinity elms and seven silver seals: the six reproduced in the mace and the Trinity College seal superimposed on a triangle representing the religious foundations of the College crowned by a sun signifying enlightenment. In the lower corners of the triangle are the Book and a pair of student's hands extended to receive it, symbolizing the desire of youth to receive an education.
