

CTL^{spring} 2018 FELLOWS

FINAL PRESENTATIONS

The CTL Fellows program supports full-time faculty undertaking a project of innovation in their teaching. The fellows sustain a wide-ranging conversation about pedagogy, meeting once per month in a colloquium to discuss their projects.

Common Hour
Dangremond Family Commons
Halden Hall, North

Join us as the CTL Fellows present the results of their yearlong teaching projects:

Thursday,
APRIL 12

Ciaran Berry
“Creative Sentences”

Jane Nadel- Klein
“Reading and Seeing the Outside World”

Katherine Bergren
“Learning from Creative Writing in the Literature Classroom”

Tuesday,
APRIL 17

Eric Galm
“Toca Brasil; Play Your Way through Brazil”

John Mertens
“Development of a Sophomore-Level Stand Alone Laboratory Course”

Serena Laws
“The American Welfare State”

Tuesday,
APRIL 24

Allie Ray & Ryan Pellico
“Transitioning Students to College-Level Mathematics by Flipping the Classroom”

Sebastian Skardal
“Applying Linear Algebra”

Todd Ryan
“Investigating Techniques for Representing Argumentative Structure”

Thursday,
APRIL 26

Isaac Kamola
“Incorporating Multi-Media (and its Critique) in the Classroom”

Martina di Florio Gula
“Action: Ciak si Gira”

Priscilla Melendez
“Transforming the Classroom into a Theatrical Space through Collaboration and Team Work”