

Technos International Week

Technos International Week is an event organized by Technos International College of Japan. Its goal is to promote international exchange and understanding between the international guests and the members of the host institution, as well as to offer the guest group the opportunity to experience and appreciate Japanese life and culture. Trinity College is one of 10 colleges and universities from around the world to participate.

The costs of domestic transportation, accommodation, and group meals in Japan will be covered by the Tanaka Ikueikai Educational Trust. International travel expenses and other associated costs such as travel insurance, taxes, and fees outside Japan will be paid by Trinity College.

Trinity faculty or administrators with full-time appointments on a continuing basis, who have a genuine interest in Japan but are not Japan specialists, and who have had little or no previous exposure to Japan, are eligible to apply. Our goal for this opportunity is to help promote and enrich the presence of Japanese studies at Trinity College, particularly in regard to awareness of Japanese culture and society among the student body. It is expected that the successful applicant will enhance the presence of Japanese studies at Trinity in a way meaningful in his/her own areas of expertise in the year following the trip, through some form of presentation to the college community. In the past, the trip experiences resulted in a photo exhibit, a public lecture, and inclusion of Japan-related materials in a course, all focusing on some aspect of Japanese society and culture. There may be many other creative ways in which the goal can be met. There is no official form of application. In your letter of application, please outline your interest in this opportunity and then describe in detail how you envision achieving your goal and benefiting the Trinity community in general.
