Please join us for an informal panel discussion with two Trinity alums on how their English degrees helped in developing their careers.

Beck (Prigot) Keller is an Enterprise Search & Corporate Librarian for Echo Services Inc., where she helps make information more visible by configuring search engine indexing tools, connecting data sources to ontologies, and doing occasional sleuthing on the internal network.

Beck graduated from Trinity in 2014 with a BA in English Literature and French, and was one of the inaugural Research Associates. She received her Masters in Library & Information Science in 2016 from the University of Washington iSchool, where she currently serves on its Alumni Advisory Board.

Chelsea Vasquez is an eighth grade English teacher at Rowland Hall, an independent school in Salt Lake City, Utah. After graduating from Trinity in 2010, she completed an M.Ed. in English Education at Harvard Graduate School of Education. Despite her student teaching experience in the high school setting, she fell in love with the energy, honesty, and joy of middle schoolers at her first job at a public school in Wayland, Massachusetts.

Three years in, she and her family needed a change, so they headed out to Utah for what was supposed to be a one-year sabbatical. Chelsea taught skiing at Snowbird while tutoring middle and high school students. In her free time, she enjoys hiking, biking, skiing, paddleboarding, and spending time outdoors with her husband and puppy.
