HISTORY MAJOR: THEMATIC CONCENTRATION SUBMISSION COVER SHEET

A 500-word reflection statement (see Part Three below) should be uploaded to Moodle with this cover sheet no later than the Friday before advising week in the first semester of your senior year. You should discuss it with your advisor during advising week and, if necessary, revise and resubmit to Moodle. History faculty advisors will not ordinarily lift advising holds for senior majors until they have submitted their concentration proposals.

PART ONE: CONCENTRATION COURSES

The thematic concentration is 5 courses, of which two must be 300-level. We encourage you to use more than two 300-level courses toward your concentration, including courses in which you are currently enrolled for the fall of your senior year. (See below for the geographic diversity component of the concentration.)

PART TWO: GEOGRAPHIC DIVERSITY

Your concentration must incorporate either three courses that have a global scope or three courses that cover different world regions. List below three courses from the five above that satisfy the requirement.

Title of course

CIRCLE ONE: The 3 courses above (a) are global in scope OR (b) cover three different regions.

PART THREE: REFLECTION STATEMENT

Answer these questions in a well-constructed essay of 500 words:

1. What theme or set of ideas have you chosen to organize your concentration, and why?
2. What courses already taken for the Major have addressed your chosen theme, and how?
3. What courses do you plan on taking to complete your concentration, and when?
4. How does your concentration accomplish the goals of geographic diversity?
