The audience is requested to rise as the Processional reaches the assemblage and to remain standing until the Platform Party is seated.

In addition, the audience is requested to remain standing during the Recessional.

Following World War II, President Funston encouraged reestablishment of the College's academic pageantry, which had been curtailed during the war. Matriculation and the Book Ceremony for first-year students were both brought back, and, in the spring of 1950, Honors Day was added as a new ceremony. Honors Day was intended to be an occasion when all Trinity prizes and awards—with the exception of those given out at Commencement—could be celebrated in the presence of the entire College community.
