About Trinity

A Statement of Mission

Engage. Connect. Transform.

As the preeminent liberal arts college in an urban setting, Trinity College prepares students to be bold, independent thinkers who lead transformative lives.

Who we are:

- *An independent, nonsectarian, liberal arts college in a capital city
- *One of the oldest colleges in the country, founded in 1823
- *Consistently ranked among the nation's best colleges
- *Home of the eighth oldest chapter of Phi Beta Kappa in the country
- *Student-to-faculty ratio of 9:1 and all classes taught by faculty
- *2,214 full-time undergraduate students from 45 states and 67 countries

Where we live:

- *A 100-acre campus in Hartford (the capital of Connecticut with a metropolitan population of more than 1.2 million)
- *Two hours from both New York City and Boston
- *Nine out of 10 students live on campus
- *Residence halls for special interest groups and specific areas of study

What we study:

- *41 majors and 28 interdisciplinary minors
- *Personal curricular options: study away, independent study, exchange programs, intensive studies, and self-designed interdisciplinary majors
- *Special first-year programs: Cities Program, Humanities Gateway Program: European Cultures, InterArts Program, Interdisciplinary Science Program, and Community Action Gateway Program
- *Degrees conferred: bachelor of arts, bachelor of science, master of arts

Joanne Berger-Sweeney became the 22nd president of Trinity College in July 2014.

Since that time, she has overseen several major accomplishments, including the completion of the college's strategic plan, Summit, which will guide Trinity toward its bicentennial in 2023 and beyond; creation of the Bantam Network mentoring program for first-year students; the launch of the Campaign for Community, a campus initiative promoting inclusiveness and respect; and the expansion of Trinity's footprint to Constitution Plaza in downtown Hartford. Additional achievements under her leadership also include the establishment of Trinity's Task Force on the Prevention of Sexual Misconduct and the founding of the Center for Caribbean Studies at Trinity.

Berger-Sweeney came to Trinity from Tufts University, where she served as the dean of the School of Arts and Sciences. Prior to Tufts, Berger-Sweeney was at Wellesley College, where she served for 19 years as a faculty member and associate dean. She received her undergraduate degree in psychobiology from Wellesley College, an M.P.H. in environmental health sciences from the University of California, Berkeley, and a Ph.D. in neurotoxicology from the Johns Hopkins School of Public Health. She completed her postdoctoral training at the National Institute of Health (INSERM) in Paris, France.

Berger-Sweeney is the recipient of numerous awards and honors, including a Lifetime Mentoring Award from the Society for Neuroscience (2006) and the National Science Foundation Young Investigator Award.

Trinity at a Glance

Where we study:

*We have one of the largest academic libraries in New England, with nearly 1 millions volumes on campus and access to approximately 3 million more through a library consortium.

*All residence hall rooms and faculty offices are fully networked, and many areas of campus have wireless internet capabilities with public-access computers available 24 hours a day in the Raether Library and Information Technology Center.

*Nearly 60 percent of students study abroad or in another U.S. city before graduating.

*Trinity operates global learning sites in Barcelona, Spain; Buenos Aires, Argentina; Cape Town, South Africa; Paris, France; Rome, Italy; Port of Spain, Trinidad; Vienna, Austria; and Shanghai, China.

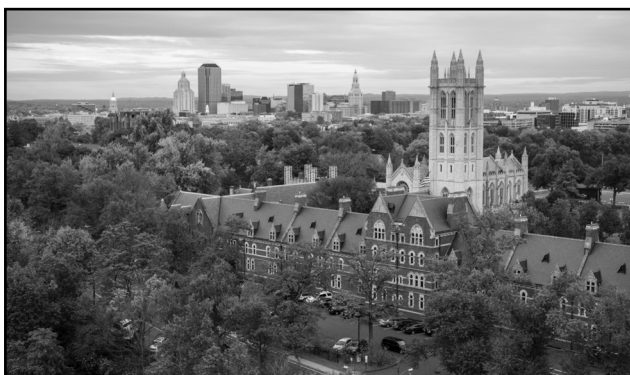

*Domestic study programs include Trinity/La MaMa Performing Arts Semester, research in Washington, D.C., maritime studies at Mystic Seaport, the Twelve-College Exchange, and theater courses at the O'Neill Theater Program.

What we experience:

*An ideal liberal arts education plus extraordinary exposure to real life as a result of Trinity's location in a capital city

*Internships through Trinity's program of more than 200 established internships in the Hartford area at places such as Aetna, United Technologies, the Connecticut Department of Education, Hartford Hospital, the Hartford Symphony Orchestra, ESPN, The Hartford Courant, the Jewish Federation of Greater Hartford, and the American Cancer Society

*The history and culture of a vibrant city, including the Wadsworth Atheneum, the oldest public art museum in the country; The Mark Twain House & Museum, Harriet Beecher Stowe Center, the XL Center, the Hartford Symphony Orchestra, and Hartford Stage

What we play and where:

*30 NCAA Division III intercollegiate sports teams in the New England Small College Athletic Conference

*Numerous intramural sports and physical education classes in "lifetime" sports such as golf, tennis, squash, swimming, ice skating, and fitness

*The Ferris Athletic Center, home to a swimming pool, fully equipped fitness center, weight room, crew tanks, 10 international-size squash courts, basketball courts, and an indoor track

*Robin L. Sheppard Field is an artificial turf field with lights where Trinity's field hockey and women's lacrosse teams play and practice. The turf was re-done in the summer of 2018.

*The new Murren Family Field at DiBenedetto Stadium for baseball.

*New, state-of-the-art playing fields for soccer and softball

*A 6,500-seat football stadium with a FieldTurf playing surface, a 400-meter six-lane and eight-lane straight-away, all-weather track, and 11 all-weather tennis courts

*The Koeppel Community Sports Center, a state-of-the-art facility with an ice-skating rink as its centerpiece

Where our alumni are today:

*Enrolled at some of the best law, medical, and other professional and graduate schools in the country

*In rewarding careers in the arts, communications, education, engineering, finance, government, and other exciting fields

Physical Therapy Provider of Trinity Athletics

Athletic Director Drew Galbraith

Trinity College appointed Drew Galbraith as Director of Athletics & Chair of Physical Education on October 19, 2017, and he has already made an impact on Bantam Athletics. Galbraith brings a combination of 26 years of NCAA Division I, II and III collegiate athletics administration experience to Hartford.

At Trinity, Galbraith is responsible for Trinity's 30 varsity teams, over 700 varsity student-athletes, as well as 70 coaches and staff. In addition, he oversees all club and intramural activities and chairs the College's Physical Education Department, which offers dozens of classes each semester.

The Trinity College Department of Athletics and Physical Education comprises three areas of interest for campus activities: athletics, physical education, and recreation. The department has a strong and storied tradition that prides itself on a broad-based program that sponsors 30 sports—15 men's and 15 women's. Sports have always been a part of the fabric of life at Trinity. Our students have played intercollegiate football for 138 years. In 1856, they created the College's first rowing club. They played their first baseball game against another organized team just three years after the Civil War. They have played basketball since 1896. In 1969, the College became a coeducational institution, and a women's varsity sports program blossomed. The varsity teams compete in the New England Small College Athletic Conference, arguably the toughest NCAA Division III conference in the nation. Bantam teams have captured 26 national titles in eight different sports, including 24 titles in the last 20 years.

In an announcement to the Trinity campus community about Galbraith's appointment, Vice President for Student Affairs and Dean of Campus Life Joe DiChristina and President Joanne Berger-Sweeney wrote, "Drew rose to the top of an enormously talented, highly qualified, and diverse candidate pool in a national search conducted with the executive search firm Witt/Kieffer. Drew's depth of experience, his coaching and teaching philosophy, and his understanding of and admiration for the role of athletics at Trinity College made him a truly exceptional fit."

"Trinity has a tremendous reputation, and I am humbled and honored by the opportunity to lead the athletics program and serve the college's mission," Galbraith said after his hiring. "I am excited to work with the coaches, staff, and the entire Trinity community to provide outstanding experiences for our students and support their academic, athletic, and personal growth."

Galbraith came to Trinity after 14 years at Dartmouth College, where he was the senior associate director of athletics and executive director of Dartmouth Peak Performance, a program that integrates services and resources to help student-athletes achieve excellence.

At Dartmouth, Galbraith helped lead a comprehensive athletics program of 35 varsity teams, 33 club sports, and 24 intramural sports. He served as sport administrator for the Dartmouth Big Green football program, as well as for women's rugby and men's and women's cross country and track and field. Over the years, Galbraith has served as sport administrator for 13 other teams at Dartmouth, overseeing coaches and all aspects of their programs. He also served as a liaison to health professionals who work with student-athletes.

Galbraith is active in NCAA committee service, having served previously on the NCAA Academics, Eligibility and Compliance Cabinet (1 year), the Division I Administration Cabinet (4 years), the NCAA Division I Men's Soccer Committee (4 years), and the NCAA Men's and Women's Skiing Committee (6 years). He chaired the soccer committee for two years and the skiing committee for four years.

Galbraith earned both a bachelor's degree and a law degree from the College of William & Mary. He began his career in media relations and broadcasting at Virginia Commonwealth University. He joined Dartmouth in 2004 as associate director of athletics after serving in compliance roles in the athletics departments at William & Mary and at the University of Nebraska-Omaha.

Head Coach Jeff Devanney

Jeff Devanney begins his 13th season as head football coach at Trinity College in the fall of 2018. Trinity hired Devanney, a 1993 graduate of the College, as its 27th head coach in December of 2005. He had been Trinity's defensive coordinator in 2005, its special teams coordinator from 2001 to 2004, its secondary coach from 2002 to 2005, and its defensive line coach in 2001. Devanney has continued to coach the Bantam defensive backs each fall. In his rookie year at the helm, the Trinity defense surrendered just 54 points all season, and the Bantams have outscored their opponents, 2,014-861, in his 12-year tenure as head coach. In 2016, Trinity posted a perfect 8-0 record to win the NESCAC title for the eighth time in program history while Devanney was named as NESCAC Coach of the Year, and the Bantams repeated as NESCAC Champions with an 8-1 record last autumn.

Devanney has an 83-14 record as a head coach that includes perfect 8-0 records in 2008, 2012 and 2016 and gives him the best winning percentage in the history of Trinity football at .856. The Bantams won or shared the NESCAC title from 2002 to 2005, in 2008, 2012, 2016, and 2017.

Devanney was honored as the NESCAC Coach of the Year in 2008, 2012 and 2016, and also garnered the Gridiron Club's Division II/III New England Coach of the Year award in 2012. He has seen 122 All-NESCAC selections from his teams the last 10 years including the NESCAC Offensive and Defensive Player of the Year in 2008, the Defensive Player of the Year from 2010 to 2012 and again in 2016, and the NESCAC Rookie of the Year in three of the last five autumns. A Devanney-coached Trinity player has been selected to participate in a National Senior All-Star Game in Mexico, Maryland, or Virginia in 12 of the last 13 years.

In Devanney's 16 years on the Bantam staff, Trinity has been ranked No. 1 in total defense in the country five times and posted 23 shutouts. Last fall, the team led the league in both scoring defense (10.6 ppg, 7th in nation) and scoring offense (34.6 ppg), pass efficiency defense (95.43, 11th in nation), passing yards allowed (164.9 per game), kickoff return average (24.7 per att., 10th in nation), and turnover margin (+1.50, 6th in nation). In 2016, Trinity led the league in scoring (38.1 ppg) and concluded the year ranked fourth nationally in first downs allowed, ninth nationally in scoring defense, fifth nationally in pass efficiency defense, sixth nationally in sacks and 12th nationally in total defense. In 2015, the Bantams ranked No. 1 in the nation in red-zone defense (.458), third in scoring defense (10.1 ppg allowed) and pass efficiency defense (87.05), ninth in total defense (253.3 ypg), and 10 nationally in rushing defense (90.3 ypg). Four season ago, Trinity finished sixth nationally in pass efficiency defense with a 90.3 rating for opposing quarterbacks and led the country in kickoff return average with 28.1 yards per attempt. In 2013, the Bantams allowed just 13.9 ppg (9th in nation), yielded 138 yards through the air per game (5th in nation), rushed for 281 yards per game (7th in nation), and held opponents to 254.8 yards per game (8th in nation) and an 80.8 pass efficiency rating (3rd in nation). In 2012, Trinity yielded an NCAA Division III-low 195.5 yards per contest, and surrendered an NCAA Division III-low 8.1 points per game, allowed an NCAA Division III-low 53.6 yards per game on the ground, and posted an 84.68 defensive pass efficiency rating (4th in nation). Trinity also led the nation statistically in rushing defense (63.5 ypg), total defense (195.5 g), and scoring defense (8.13 ppg) while posting four shutouts in 2011, and finished first in the nation in rushing defense (45.50 ypg) in 2010. In 2006, Trinity led the country in scoring defense and total defense, and finished second nationally in pass efficiency defense (73.2 opponent efficiency rating).

A star player in football and baseball for the College, Devanney was voted the NESCAC Football Defensive Player of the Year in 1992. He appears among the College's all-time leaders in punt returns and stolen bases in baseball. Devanney earned his master's degree in liberal studies from SUNY-Albany in 1995. Prior to Trinity, Devanney was the defensive coordinator at Central Connecticut State University from 1998-2000. He also served as a secondary coach at Georgia Tech and worked with the wide receivers and tight ends at Albany and Coast Guard. An associate professor in the Trinity athletic department, Devanney and his wife, Michele, their daughters, Shea and Caitlin, and their son, Sean, reside in Newington, Conn.

The Coaching Staff

LEWIS ACQUARULO
Associate Head Coach/
Defensive Coordinator/
Linebackers/Special Teams

Trinity College Associate Head Football Coach Lew Acquarulo, a Connecticut native, begins his 25th season in college football, his 14th season as an assistant coach with the Bantams and his 13th as defensive coordinator in 2018. Acquarulo coaches the inside linebackers and also coordinates the kicking game. In 2011, Acquarulo was named as the New England Division II/III Assistant Coach of the Year by the Gridiron Club of Greater Boston, after the Bantams boasted the top defense in all of NCAA Division III football.

Trinity led the nation statistically in three different defensive categories in 2011, having allowed just 63.5 rushing yards per game, 195.5 total yards per game, and 8.13 points per game. Trinity also claimed third place nationally in tackles for loss with 9.0 per contest, while posting shutouts in four of its eight games. Six seasons ago, Trinity yielded an NCAA Division III-low 195.5 yards per contest, and surrendered an NCAA Division III-low 8.1 points per game, allowed an NCAA Division III-low 53.6 yards per game on the ground, and posted an 84.68 defensive pass efficiency rating (4th in nation). In 2013, the Bantams allowed just 13.9 ppg (9th in nation), yielded 138 yards through the air per game (5th in nation), and held opponents to 254.8 yards per game (8th in nation) and an 80.8 pass efficiency rating (3rd in nation). In 2014, Trinity finished sixth nationally in pass efficiency defense with a 90.3 rating for opposing quarterbacks. Three years ago, the Bantams ranked No. 1 in the nation in red-zone defense (.458), third in scoring defense (10.1 ppg allowed) and pass efficiency defense (87.05), ninth in total defense (253.3 ypg), and 10 nationally in rushing defense (90.3 ypg). In 2016, Trinity concluded the year ranked fourth nationally in first downs allowed, ninth in scoring defense, fifth in pass efficiency defense, sixth in sacks and 12th in total defense. Last fall, the Bantams led the league in scoring defense (10.6 ppg, 7th in nation), pass efficiency defense (95.43, 11th in nation), and passing yards allowed (164.9 per game).

In his first year as defensive coordinator, the Bantams led the nation in scoring defense (6.8 points allowed per game) and total defense (160.0 yards allowed per game), and finished second nationally in pass efficiency defense (73.2 opponent efficiency rating). In 2007, the Trinity defense finished atop the league rankings in total defense, rushing defense, and sacks. Acquarulo's rushing defense ranked 15th nationally in 2008 (86.88 yards/game) and Trinity allowed just 140 points to tie for first in the NESCAC. Trinity finished sixth in the nation in rushing defense (68 ypg), fifth nationally in tackles for loss (9.38 per game), and second in the country in sacks (3.88 per game) that year. The Trinity defense boasts 51 All-NESCAC defensive players in the last nine years, including 2008 NESCAC Defensive Player of the Year Tyler Berry, 2009 and 2010 NESCAC Defensive Player of the Year Walter Fallas, 2012 NESCAC Defensive Player of the Year Rae Haynes, and 2016 NESCAC Defensive Player of the Year Spencer Donahue.

Acquarulo arrived at Trinity in 2005 after serving as the defensive coordinator and strength and conditioning coordinator at the University of Rochester from 2001 to 2004. Prior to Rochester, Acquarulo coached the outside linebackers and special teams at the University of Pennsylvania for three years, linebackers and special teams at Southern Connecticut State University for two years, and the defensive line and linebackers at Union College. He was also the strength coach at both Southern Connecticut and Union. Acquarulo coordinates the Trinity football academic program, and is an associate professor in the College's athletic department. Acquarulo earned a bachelor's degree from Union College, where he helped the football team win an ECAC Championship, earn two NCAA championship bids, and post undefeated seasons in 1991 and 1993 as a starting defensive lineman. Acquarulo was recognized by Union for outstanding team leadership with the Ronald F. Plumb Award at the conclusion of his playing career. He also holds a master's degree from Trinity in American Studies.

The Coaching Staff

MARK MELNITSKY

Offensive Coordinator/

att., 10th in nation), and turnover margin (+1.50, 6th in nation). No less than 26 Melnitsky-coached offensive lineman have made the All-NESCAC Teams in the last 12 seasons, including 2014 NESCAC Rookie of the Year and 2016 and 2017 American Football Coaches Association (AFCA) Division III All-American Chris Simmons.

Melnitsky was previously the offensive line coach at Fordham University in 2004 and 2005, and served as both the offensive coordinator and offensive line coach at Widener University in 2003 and Ursinus College in 2001 and 2002. Prior to Ursinus, Melnitsky served as an offensive line coach at the University of Pennsylvania in 2000. He earned his bachelor's degree in government from Hamilton College in 1997, where he was a four-year letterwinner at inside line-backer and captain as a senior, and added a master's degree in American Studies from Trinity in 2009. Melnitsky is also an assistant professor in the Trinity athletic department. He has two daughters, Charlotte and Julia, and resides in Avon.

DENVER WILLIAMS

Wide Receivers/Special Teams/Recruiting Coordinator

Denver Williams begins his 11th year on the Trinity staff as wide receivers coach in 2018, owning 17 years of coaching experience at the Division II and III levels. He also serves as the team's recruiting coordinator and handles the Bantam kick return and punt return units. Trinity wide receivers have received All-NESCAC honors 11 times under Williams' tutelage, including seven in the last six seasons.

Williams played for Youngstown State University where his team won the NCAA Division I-AA National Championship in 1997. An All-State running back at Cadiz High School and a 2012 inductee into the Ohio Valley Athletic Conference Hall of Fame, Williams holds the school's record for rushing yards as well as several state records for track and field. Williams has also served as the wide receivers coach and recruiting coordinator at Ashland University, and the receivers coach, offensive coordinator, and recruiting coordinator at Ohio Northern University. He is an associate professor in the Trinity athletic department and has been a track and field assistant coach for the Bantams.

The Coaching Staff

GEOFF RHATICAN
Quarterbacks

Geoff Rhatican enters his fourth season as Trinity football's quarterbacks coach in 2018, and was promoted to passing game coordinator in January of this year. Currently in his second coaching stint with the Bantams, Rhatican returned to Hartford where he previously served as Trinity's running backs coach while earning his master's degree in public policy & law from 2010 to 2012. He played a major role in the development of All-NESCAC Trinity quarterback Sonny Puzzo who led the Bantam attack that ranked first in scoring offense in each of the last two seasons.

Rhatican came back to Trinity from NESCAC rival Bowdoin, where he mentored Tyler Grant to an All-NESCAC season and a league rushing title. In 2013, Rhatican was a member of the Bates coaching staff where he worked with All-NESCAC slotback Shawn Doherty. As a graduate assistant at Trinity for Coach Devanney, Rhatican coached Evan Bunker, the all-time leading rusher in NESCAC history, and three-time All-NESCAC selections Ben Crick and Michael Budness.

Rhatican is a 2008 graduate of Brown University, where he played quarterback and wide receiver for the Bears after completing his prep career at Dallas Jesuit in Texas. As an undergraduate, he was a member of Brown's only outright Ivy League Championship team in 2005. His resume also includes a coaching stint at the U.S. Coast Guard Academy, where he coached Sam England and Eric Gerkin, the top two all-time leading receivers in school history.

KYLE DUNCAN
Defensive Line

Kyle Duncan enters the second year of his second stint as a Trinity football assistant coach in 2018 after previously serving on the staff as a graduate assistant from 2013 to 2015. In between, Duncan was a member of the Tufts University football staff as defensive line coach for two years and recruiting coordinator for one. While in Medford, Duncan coached three All-NESCAC defensive linemen (Doug Harrison, Micah Adickes, and Zach Thomas) while recruiting the New Jersey, Connecticut, Rhode Island and Long Island/Westchester County, New York areas. Duncan also went overseas where he was the head coach, defensive and special teams coordinator of the Czech Republic's Prague Lions in the summers of 2015 and 2016. He led the Lions to the club's first-ever, 10-0 undefeated regular season in the Czech League of American football, and the squad twice received American Football International European Top 20 Honorable Mention honors.

Duncan originally came to Trinity in April 2013 after a successful playing career at Bowdoin and a one-year stint as running backs coach at his alma mater. Duncan graduated from Bowdoin in 2012 with a degree in government and legal studies, and earned his master's degree in public policy at Trinity in 2016. He was a three-year starting center for the NESCAC rival Polar Bears and mentored all-league ball carrier Zach Donnarumma in 2012. Duncan coached Trinity All-NESCAC running backs Michael Budness, Evan Bunker, Ben Crick, and Chudi Iregbelum as a graduate assistant and All-NESCAC defensive linemen Corey Jean-Jacques and Brandon Blaise in 2017.

The Coaching Staff

TOM SZYMANSKI
Cornerbacks

Tom Szymanski returned to his alma mater as an assistant football coach in the spring of 2017 and begins his second autumn coaching the cornerbacks in 2018. A Trinity graduate in 2015 where he enjoyed a storied career on the gridiron as a three-time, All-NESCAC outside linebacker, Szymanski came to Trinity after two seasons as an assistant at John Carroll University in Ohio. In 2018, Szymanski assisted on a defense that allowed 9.8 ppg (3rd nationally) and was 2nd nationally in turnover margin (1.56), helping the Bantams post an 8-1 record and win the NESCAC Championship title. He also mentored All-NESCAC First team DB Dominique Seagears.

Szymanski coached running backs, served as special teams co-coordinator, and was responsible for offensive quality control at John Carroll. He helped guide the Blue Streaks to an Ohio Athletic Conference Championship and an NCAA Division III Championship Semifinal appearance in 2016. During the summer of 2015, Szymanski was a participant in the Reese's Senior Bowl Scout School where he worked with NFL scouts to learn the various aspects of scouting and player personnel and development.

Szymanski owns a bachelor's degree from Trinity in American Studies, and is currently pursuing a master's degree from his alma mater in public policy & law. He was the team's Chad Mooney Defensive MVP in 2014, the David Poulin Defensive Rookie of the Year in 2011 and a key member of Trinity's 2012 NESCAC Championship squad. Szymanski attend Phillips Academy Andover and is a native of Dracut, Mass.

KEVIN MILL
Fullbacks/Tight Ends

Kevin Mill joins the Trinity football coaching staff in the summer of 2018 and will coach the tight end and fullback positions this fall. Mill comes to Hartford from Guilford College in North Carolina where he coached from 2014 to 2018. He was the running backs and tight ends coach at Guilford in 2014, helping that offense finish among the top ten nationally in both total offense and scoring offense and lead all of NCAA football in third-down efficiency. Mill was named the assistant special teams coordinator at Guilford in 2015 and later the offensive line coach for the 2016 season. The Quakers posted the No. 22-ranked offense in the nation and posted the second-highest season rushing total in program history that fall.

Mill joined the Guilford coaching staff after a successful playing career as a member of the Princeton University Tigers from 2008 to 2012. He was a three-year starter at multiple offensive line positions at Princeton and a member of a senior class that led the team to the biggest turnaround in program history and its first Big-Three Championship since 2006. With Mill on the offensive line, the Tigers led the Ivy League in rushing in both 2008 and 2011 and ranked second in scoring offense in 2012. Mill has also worked as a client relationship associate for The Vanguard Group and a counselor for Camp Shriver of the Special Olympics of New Jersey.

STEVE HASHEMI
Running Backs

Steve Hashemi joins the Trinity football coaching staff in the summer of 2018 and will coach the runnings backs this fall. Hashemi comes to Hartford from Yale University where he interned with the Bulldogs football program during the Spring of 2018. This will be Hashemi's first coaching stint.

Hashemi joined the Yale staff after a successful playing career at the University of Connecticut from 2014 to 2017 where he was a three-year letter earner for the Huskies. During his time at UCONN, Hashemi played a number of positions including offensive line, tight end and fullback. Following his senior year, Hashemi was the recipient of the John L. Toner Scholar Athlete Award recognizing a senior member of the football program who has demonstrated outstanding academic performance and citizenship while making a significant contribution to the overall success of the team.

A Connecticut native, Hashemi grew up in Shelton and attended St. Joseph High School in Trumbull where he led the Cadets to multiple state championships in both basketball and football.

Football Philosophy

Our football program exists for our players. As coaches, we are responsible for preparing each individual to become the best football player he can be. Football is a microcosm of life. The most successful people in life exhibit discipline, a strong work ethic, loyalty, and teamwork. We demand that our players exhibit these characteristics. In our program, we teach our players to set goals, and they learn how to keep these goals in focus and achieve them. The ultimate purpose of our program is to have each student-athlete leave with a superior education and a feeling that his four years at Trinity, and in our football program, have been the best four years of his life.

The top priority of student-athletes is to enhance their education. The academic success of our players is, therefore, our primary focus. The support we give to student-athletes can contribute greatly to their accomplishments in the classroom. One way that our program seeks to nurture our players' academic success is through regular study halls for all freshmen.

In recruiting student-athletes, our coaching staff looks for well-rounded individuals. In addition to athletic ability, maturity is of paramount importance to us. Great players are more than just superior athletes. They understand what it takes to excel in the classroom, to be active in the campus community, and to perform on the football field.

OFFENSE – We will be flexible, multiple and creative offensively. We will attack the defense with multiple personnel combinations to take advantage of our offensive players' skills and to create mismatches for our opponents. We will be balanced between the run and pass. This means that we will run or throw the ball effectively from all formations and in all situations. While attacking the defense intelligently, we will never lose our physical and mental toughness. Football is still a physical game and we want to dominate the one-on-one elements of the game. We want the physical toughness to succeed in short-yardage and goal-line situations and the mental and emotional fortitude to succeed in long-yardage situations.

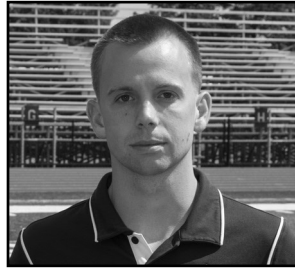

DEFENSE – We run a 3-4 personnel defense and use a variety of fronts and zone coverages. We recruit for speed and emphasize swarming to the football with all eleven players on the field. Our priority is to take away our opponents run game and their strengths by gameplan, and then attack their weaknesses. Philosophically, we will play a lot of players, creating depth and staying fresh for the fourth quarter.

KICKING – The kicking game is critical to our success. Special teams are as key to our success as offense and defense. A starter on special teams is a starter in our program. Consistent play on special teams allows us to maintain field position and control the tempo of a game. Our goal is to utilize the special teams component of a football game to gain an advantage over our opponents and ultimately win the game.

2018 Outlook

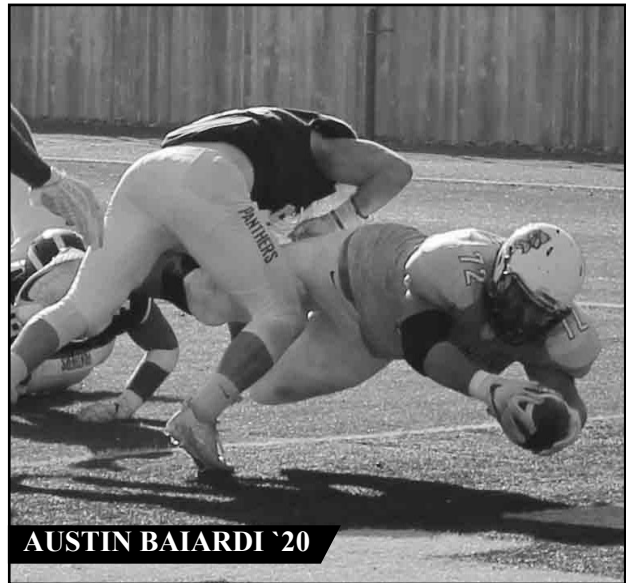

The Trinity College football team, coached by Jeff Devanney (13th Season), captured its 10th New England Small College Athletic Conference (NESCAC) title in dramatic fashion last fall, clinching the title in the historic ninth game of the season with a 24-3 win against Wesleyan to finish 8-1 in the first nine-game season in conference history. The Bantams won six games by at least 22 points, scored at least 28 points in six of nine games, and extended winning streaks of 19 games or more against Bates, Bowdoin, Colby, and Hamilton. Trinity returns 50 letterwinners and 14 starters from last year's squad, including senior tri-captains Max Chipouras (Longmeadow, Mass.), Sameir Madden (Norristown, Pa.), and Nick Rose (Arlington, Mass.) in 2018. Six players who earned All-NESCAC honors in 2017 will grace the roster this autumn, and an abundance of talent on both sides of the ball and on special teams return.

KOBY SCHOFER '20

The Bantams, which also won the 2016 NESCAC crown with an undefeated (8-0) campaign, will play four times at home and hit the road five times for the first time this fall, including a chance at its 22nd-consecutive, season-opening win on September 15 at Colby. Chipouras is one of the most productive running backs in Trinity history and the Bantam defense will be one the stingiest in the Northeast once again. Two keys to another title run will be replacing two-time All-American Chris Simmons on the offensive line and two-time All-NESCAC Sonny Puzzo under center. Trinity has a great chance for its first NESCAC "three-peat" since 2004, and the experts agree as evidenced by a No. 29 national ranking in the College Football America 2018 Yearbook Division III Pre-Season Poll.

Chipouras was the 2015 NESCAC Offensive Rookie of the Year and has added All-NESCAC First Team honors in each of the last two campaigns while racking up conference bests of 937 rushing yards and 10 touchdowns on the ground last fall. Speedy sophomore Colin Beaulieu (Bethany, Conn.) showed promise as a rookie in the backfield and as a returner.

AUSTIN BAIARDI '20

Junior Koby Schofer (Northbridge, Mass.) burst on the scene as an All-NESCAC wide receiver in 2017, catching 52 passes for 741 yards in six scores. Sophomores Jonathan Girard (Poughkeepsie, N.Y.) and Dakota Foster (Hyattsville, Md.) were impressive as rookies, totaling 28 catches between them, and both averaged over 18 yards per reception. Senior Matt LaPorta (Ridgefield, Conn.) adds quality depth at receiver and in the return game, while versatile junior Joe Samuelman (North Andover, Mass.) should settle in as the top option at tight end/H-back.

Simmons was nothing short of dominant over four years as offensive tackle, but junior Austin Baiardi (Smithtown, N.Y.) is of the same mold having already earned All-NESCAC recognition twice at the position. Seniors Sam Bowtell (Darien, Conn.) and Steve O'Reilly (Topsfield, Mass.) have significant starting experience at guard and center, respectively, and junior Alex Wukovitz (East Hanover, N.J.) was solid when called upon to fill in last season.

Senior David Ryan (Woodbridge, Conn.) has been steady in two seasons as Puzzo's primary backup quarterback under center, but will face stiff competition from several others as camp breaks the last week of August. Junior Jordan Vazzano

(Trumbull, Conn.), who arrived at Trinity in January as a transfer from the University of Rhode Island, junior Brad Whitman (Salisbury, Mass.), and sophomore Ben Brooks (Bel Air, Md.) will also have an opportunity in an open competition for the starting role against the Mules.

The Trinity defense is perennially one of the nation's best and 2017's unit was no exception. The Bantams finished seventh in the nation in scoring defense, 11th in pass-efficiency defense, and sixth in turnover margin last fall. Five All-NESCAC honorees graduated from last year's group, but this season's defense is up to the challenge including Rose and 2017 All-NESCAC First Team DT Corey Jean Jacques (Haverhill, Mass.) up front. Jean Jacques totaled 36 tackles and led Trinity in tackles for loss with nine and sacks with 4.5 (tied) in 2017. Junior Devyn Perkins (Brookline, Mass.) has been a solid member of the of the defensive line rotation for two autumns, while sophomore DL Jimmie Christiano (Middlebury, Conn.) was a disruptive force and ended his freshman campaign as Trinity's top rookie performer. Junior Dan McKeeney (Westwood, Mass.) slides down from linebacker to provide further depth in the trenches.

The linebacking corps will also be a team strength, led by All-NESCAC honoree Dago Picon-Roura (Roslindale, Mass.) and four-year starter Shane Libby (Scituate, Mass.) on the outside. Picon-Roura paced the Bantams with 61 tackles, and is equally effective against the pass with four career interceptions, while Libby has amassed 96 tackles, 12.5 sacks and 25.5 tackles for loss in his career. Senior Jacob Martilotti (Wayne, Pa.) is a dependable veteran linebacker, while talented junior Daniel Negron (Hartsdale, N.Y.) is back from an injury-plagued sophomore campaign. Sophomore

Will Dencker (Newburgh, N.Y.) was a weekly contributor as a rookie in 2017 and classmates Charles Barsella (North Baldwin, N.Y.) and Xavier Francis (Bowie, Md.) give Trinity two more promising young linebackers.

Madden will man the strong safety position, after making 24 tackles and picking off a pair of passes last autumn, but the Bantam secondary must replace a pair of All-NESCAC defensive backs. Junior Matt Patry (Medfield, Mass.) is the other returning starter after proving himself as a playmaking cornerback a year ago. Patry notched 22.5 tackles, made two interceptions, led the team in pass break-ups with eight, and forced a recovered a fumble in 2017. Senior safety Chandler Colberg (Madison, Conn.) is eager to make his mark, and will be pushed by talented sophomore defensive backs Evander Jackson (White Plains, N.Y.) and Matt McCarthy (North Reading, Mass.). Junior Ian McDonald (Avon, Conn.) and sophomore Hamilton Coiscou (Dorchester Center, Mass.) will battle it out with other young players early in the season for the other cornerback spot.

Senior Eric Sachse (Jefferson, Mass.) is one of the nation's top kickers and one of the best offensive weapons in the conference. He is a two-time All-NESCAC selection collected All-New England Division II/III and All-American honors in 2016 when his perfect percentage on 50 kicks (37 PAT's, 13 FG's) led the nation. Sachse followed that up with 56 points and seven field goals last fall, while also averaging nearly 60 yards per kickoff and even landing half of his 12 punts inside the opponents' 20-yard line. McDonald has been Trinity's primary punter over the last two years, averaging 37.3 yards per attempt, and Beaulieu racked up over 500 yards on kick returns.

Defending dignity.
Fighting poverty.

I am powerful

At CARE, we've found that the poorest parts of the world are, invariably, places where women are still marginalized and not allowed a significant role.

That's why CARE today has embarked on a mission of global women's empowerment. To educate girls, and provide opportunities that will unleash the power women have to bring change to these areas.

But often, we have to be creative in how we do that. Loki, who lives in a remote Ethiopian village, has big dreams. But she also has to tend her family's herd of cattle and goats. If not, her family will suffer. She often walks 20 miles a day in search of water and grasslands. So rather than bring Loki to school, we bring school to Loki. We're establishing schoolrooms in nomadic villages that offer flexible hours, and move as the village moves.

Someday soon, girls like Loki will do remarkable things in Ethiopia. We'll keep finding ways to open the doors.

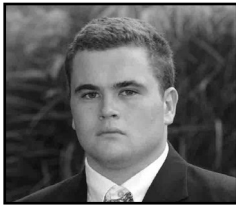

We're trying to create a world where every person has the opportunity to realize their potential. Because, in the end, that's the key to truly ending injustice and poverty.

SHE HAS the POWER
to change her world.
YOU HAVE the POWER
to help her do it.

MAKE BREAKFAST HAPPEN SO KIDS CAN BE HUNGRY FOR MORE

I was one of our nation's hungry kids growing up. Today, 1 in 5 children in America struggle with hunger. But when they get breakfast, their days are bigger and brighter. Learning, attention, memory and mood improve. Together, we have the power to get breakfast to kids in your neighborhood — let's make it happen. Go to hungeris.org and lend your time or your voice.

Football Tradition

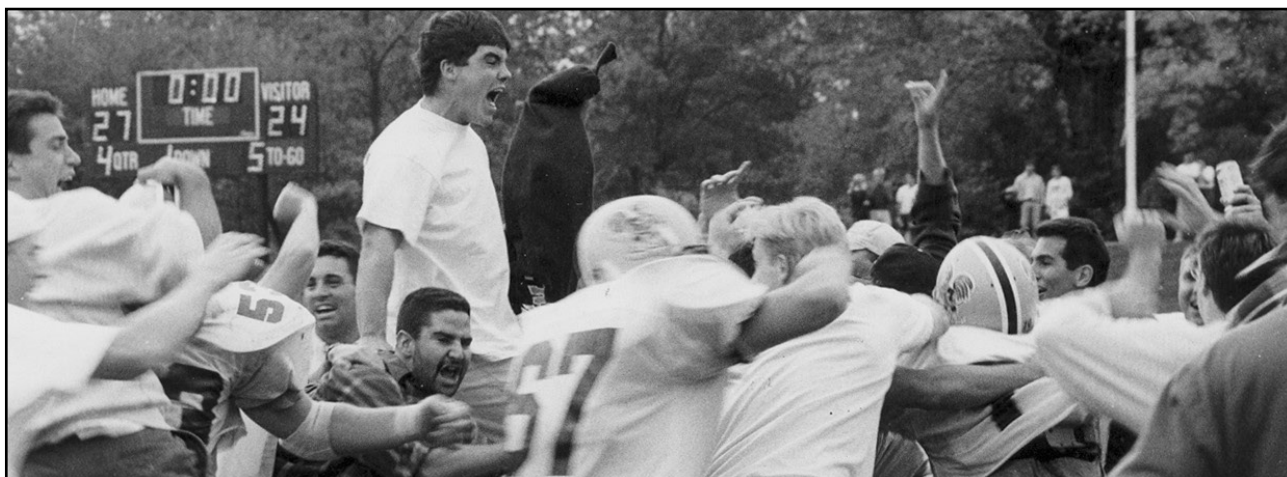

Trinity College football is steeped in tradition. Winning and excellence have been the hallmarks of Trinity teams since the football program's inception in 1877.

The Bantams had six undefeated seasons prior to the formation of the New England Small College Athletic Conference (NESCAC) in 1970. In the past 41 years, the Bantams have won or shared the league's best record 14 times, including 8-0 records in 1993, 2003, 2004, 2005, 2008, 2012, 2016, and 2017 and No. 1 rankings in New England five times. Since NESCAC began its league-only

Longtime Trinity Head Coach Dan Jesse compiled a 150-76-7 record from 1933 to 1966, and his successor, Coach Don Miller followed with a 174-77-5 mark over the next 32 seasons. Miller retired after the 1998 season as the all-time winningest coach in New England Division III football history, and currently ranks third on that list. Current Stony Brook head coach Chuck Priore went 39-9 with four league title from 2000 to 2005, Devanney has guided the Bantams to four more during his tenure. Since 2000, the played in the National Football League (NFL) for the Green Bay Packers. Lane was the Connecticut Athlete of the Year as a senior, and McGrath was the NESCAC, the ECAC Division III Northeast Region, and the New England Football Writers Division II/III Player of the Year in his final autumn. In 2011, senior ILB Walter Fallas became the first player to repeat as NESCAC Defensive Player of the Year, and received the Zabalski Award as the best player in New England Division III football. Evan Bunker became the all-time rushing leader in NESCAC history in schedule in 1992, Trinity has compiled a 167-42 record (.799), finished atop the league in 1993 and 1996, and captured official NESCAC titles in 2002, 2003, 2004, 2005, 2008, 2012, 2016, and 2017. Last fall, Trinity went 8-1 in the first nine-game NESCAC season and extended lengthy winning streaks against Bates (21), Hamilton (23), and Bowdoin (19). The Bantams also own the longest overall winning streak in New England Division III football history with 31 consecutive triumphs from 2002 to 2006.

Trinity has the third-highest number of victories of any Division III football program in New England, and the Bantams' recent history includes 16 consecutive winning campaigns and 38 records of .500 or better in the last 39 years. Head Coach Jeff Devanney, who owns the highest winning percentage (.856) in Trinity coaching history for coaches with at least 50 victories, is proud to represent his alma mater as it continues its winning tradition and reaffirms its position as one of the most prestigious and successful programs Bantams have a 107-22 mark (.829).

Several Trinity athletes have earned individual honors and accolades during their Bantam football careers. Some former stand-outs of the Trinity football program are quarterbacks Joe Shield '84, James Lane '91, and Eric McGrath '08, linebacker Roger LeClerc '60, fullback/linebacker Charlie Sticka '56. Mickey Kobrosky '36 set a new standard for excellence in 2012, becoming the first Trinity football player to earn induction into the College Football Hall of Fame. An All-American among all the nation's colleges and a two-time Little All-American, Kobrosky went on to play professional baseball in the Cleveland Indians organization and for the NFL's New York Giants. Keith Miles received an NFF National Scholar Athlete Award in 1967, and Mike Mancini became the second Bantam to be so honored in 2014.

Shield holds Trinity's career passing yardage record and is the College's all-time leader in pass completions, touchdown passes, and total offense. He 2013 with 3,838 career yards. Chris Simmons was a two-time AFCA All-American in 2016 and 2017.

LeClerc starred at Trinity in both football and baseball, earning Little All-American honors as a member of the Bantam defense. Although he still holds six Bantam defensive records, including solo tackles in a game (16) and a season (79 in 1959), LeClerc made his mark at the professional level with his versatility. He played with the Chicago Bears for seven years and the Denver Broncos for one season, and appeared on the depth chart at seven positions.

Sticka, who has the most career touchdowns in Trinity history, with 37, and the most career points, with 227, is perhaps the greatest football player ever to wear the Bantam uniform. He was a two-time All-American fullback, started in the East-West Shrine Game in 1955, and was drafted by the Los Angeles Rams in 1956. In 1997, both LeClerc and Sticka became members of the Conn. Football Hall of Fame.

The Trinity College nickname can be traced to two sources. In 1899, Judge Joseph Buffington was a guest of honor at a Princeton Alumni Banquet. In response to a toast, "to the sister colleges," Buffington spoke of the football rivalry among Princeton, Harvard, and Yale - "the big chanticleers of the collegiate barnyard," compared to which Trinity was a mere bantam.

However, the Judge did say, the Trinity Bantam, "can be at home anywhere, is glad to be here, feels not a whit abashed at your hugeness, is satisfied with himself and his own particular coop, feels he is up to date, and has no bats in his belfry."

Though Judge Buffington's speech was stirring, it wasn't until 1905 when the Bantams nickname became accepted by all. A sportswriter for the Detroit Free Press referred to Trinity's heavy football scheduling, with such athletic "powers" as Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Brown, and West Point, the "game-bantam of the intercollegiate poultry."

Whether the sports writer knew of Buffington's previous use is unknown, but other sportswriters took up the name, and it has been used ever since.

About the NESCAC

Founded in 1971, the New England Small College Athletic Conference (NESCAC) is a group of eleven highly selective liberal arts colleges and universities that share a similar philosophy for intercollegiate athletics. The Conference was created out of a concern for the direction of intercollegiate athletic programs, and remains committed to keeping a proper perspective on the role of sport in higher education.

The formation of the NESCAC originated with an agreement among Amherst College, Bowdoin College, Wesleyan University and Williams College first drafted in 1955. Along with these four institutions, Bates College, Colby College, Hamilton College, Middlebury College, Trinity College and Tufts University are sustaining charter members. Connecticut College joined in 1982, bringing the Conference's membership to its current total of 11 institutions.

NESCAC members believe intercollegiate athletic programs should operate in harmony with the educational mission of each institution. The Conference is committed to establishing common boundaries to keep athletics strong but in proportion to the overall academic mission of the member institutions. In pursuit of this mission, the Presidents of each NESCAC institution control intercollegiate athletic policy. Conference tenets are usually more restrictive than those of the NCAA Division III with regard to season length, number of contests and post-season competition.

NESCAC institutions also believe athletic teams should be representative of the entire student body. Thus, admissions and financial policies are consistent with the NCAA Division III policies that prohibit athletic scholarships and award financial aid solely on the basis of need.

In 1999, the NESCAC formally became a playing conference and now sponsors 27 conference championship sports (13 for men and 14 for women). Member schools offer extensive and broad based intercollegiate as well as club and intramural opportunities for both men and women. With member institutions sponsoring an average of nearly 30 varsity programs, NESCAC provides more than 7,500 opportunities for participation in intercollegiate competition at the Division III level. Teams and individuals have achieved great success on both a regional and national level. During the 2017-18 academic year, 72 teams participated in NCAA team championships. NESCAC student-athletes claimed 15 individual national championships and NESCAC teams won six national team championships.

NESCAC Mission Statement

The New England Small College Athletic Conference (NESCAC), founded in 1971, consists of eleven highly selective liberal arts colleges. Its members are committed first and foremost to academic excellence and believe that athletic excellence supports our educational mission.

Each institution is committed to providing a comprehensive athletic program available to the entire student body. All participants in athletic activities are treated equitably.

The Conference is based on mutual trust, and all members are committed to the highest ethical standards in our relationships with each other. It encourages its members to compete with one another and is committed to promoting equitable competition among us. The Conference is committed to establishing common boundaries to keep athletics strong but in proportion to the overall academic mission of the member institutions.

In pursuit of this mission, the Presidents of each NESCAC institution control intercollegiate athletic policy. The day-to-day operation of the athletic program is conducted by the Director of Athletics. Students on all intercollegiate teams are to be representative of the overall student body and are admitted with the expectation of their full participation in the life of the college. In all sports, conference members give primary emphasis to in-season competition where programs have fixed starting and ending dates and where the number of contests is limited. The Conference and each member will manage competition and post-season play in a manner that minimizes conflicts with class schedules and examinations.

Abusive Drinking and Hazing

In addition to being partners in athletic competition, the 11 colleges and universities comprising the New England Small College Athletic Conference (NESCAC) are united in efforts to provide safe environments in which students may mature intellectually and socially.

Recognizing that social life plays a role in the college experience, each campus has increased its efforts to encourage students to make responsible choices. Each school takes a strong stand against substance abuse, including alcohol. While the vast majority of students at NESCAC institutions who choose to drink do so responsibly, each school has disciplinary and educational programs in place for students who misuse alcohol and other substances.

Jessee/Miller Field

Jessee/Miller Field, named after Trinity's legendary head football coaches Dan Jessee and Don Miller, is the ninth oldest college football field in the United States. The playing surface, however, was changed from natural grass to FieldTurf in the summer of 2002. The entire complex, which also includes Trinity's men's lacrosse field and its track, underwent a renovation this summer with new surfaces for track and field. The football field was redesigned with a newer version of FieldTurf and coloring. This project includes new fencing, lighting, and a jumbotron scoreboard on the south end of the field.

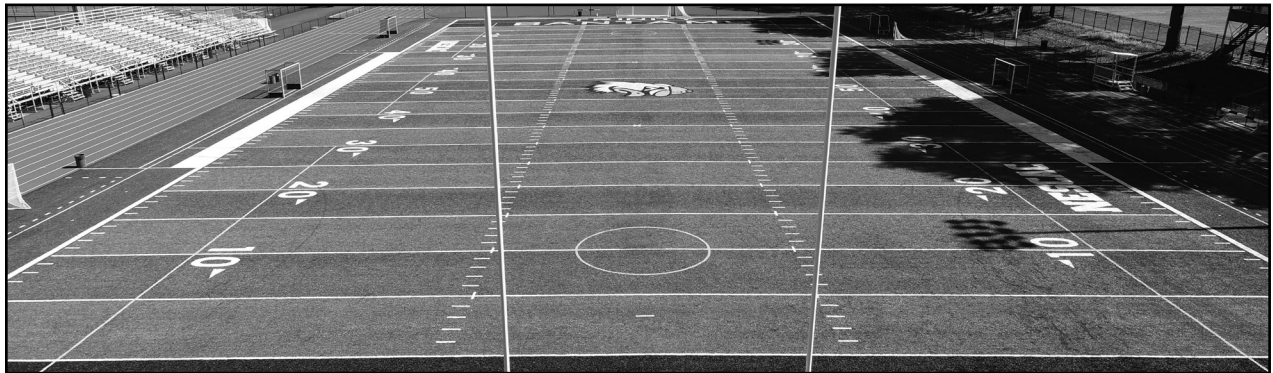

The FieldTurf surface is a popular and widely used athletic turf that features individual polyethylene and polypropylene fibers arranged in a pattern that imitates real grass. A football scoreboard is also featured toward the right of the South end zone.

FieldTurf has become the playing surface of choice for major college and professional football teams. The revolutionary material is constructed with a shock-absorbing infill surrounding each blade of synthetic grass, allowing athletes to slide, pivot, and twist their cleats into the surface.

The Atlanta Falcons, Seattle Seahawks, Detroit Lions, Indianapolis Colts, and the New England Patriots of The National Football League all have FieldTurf surfaces at their home stadiums. Boise State University, University of Nebraska, The University of Notre Dame, Ohio State University, University of Oregon, University of Washington, and the University of Wisconsin are among the college football programs that play their home contests on FieldTurf.

Anne G. & Richard J. Hazelton Fitness Center

With the growing focus on a healthy body, Trinity College has made a commitment to physical fitness. In October of 1993, the Anne G. & Richard J. Hazelton Fitness Center was opened in the area of the old swimming pool within Ferris Athletic Center. The facility, which is open 16 hours a day, is available to all Trinity students, faculty, and staff members.

In addition to the Fitness Center, Ferris Athletic Center contains a weight room, an eight-lane swimming pool, two regulation-size basketball courts, 10 international-size squash courts, and an expansive indoor field house that contains a 1/10th mile track, three tennis courts, and space to accommodate practices for the varsity baseball, softball, lacrosse, and track squads during the cold winter months.

Hazelton Fitness Center, named after retired Trinity Athletic Director Richard Hazelton and his wife, Anne, is also the home for physical education classes that are taught by members of the Trinity athletic department. In the fall of 2018 the facility was outfitted with new ellipticals, treadmills, climbmills, ascent trainers, both upright and recumbent bikes, and brand-building communication in addition to its free weights, squat racks, platforms, and Precor equipment.

Academic Advising

Trinity Team Faculty/Administrator Liaison Program

The purpose of appointing Team Faculty/Administrator Liaisons for each of the 30 varsity sports programs is to establish a direct relationship between members of a particular sport team and the Trinity College faculty and staff. The Team Faculty/Administrator Liaison serves as an advocate of the sport, and acts as a liaison leading to a broader network of faculty that can assist student-athletes in meeting immediate and long-term needs. Recognizing most teams vary in the degree to which they need support, the Team Faculty/Administrator Liaison fosters a relationship with his/her team in an effort to satisfy the specific needs of his/her team members.

“The football team’s academic advising program is a great way for players to communicate with coaches about their progress in the classroom and make sure they are on track with their work throughout the year. For me, the one-on-one meetings with my advisor allowed me to plan out my week and stay focused on both academics and athletics simultaneously. While creating a stronger relationship between coaches and players off the field, the advising program helps emphasize the “student” in student-athlete in order to maximize your academic career at Trinity.”

Dakota Foster '21

*Making the academic and social transition to college from high school can be difficult, especially for students participating in a sport as physically demanding and time consuming as football. At Trinity, in addition to each player’s academic advisor, football players work with two Football Team Faculty/Staff Liaisons, Shane Ewegen (Philosophy) Tennyson O'Donnell (Writing Center). They help each player to determine what resources he needs to succeed and where to find these resources at the College. Each brings different skills sets and fresh ideas to help support our student-athletes. They also work closely with the program’s three writing tutors.

“The academic support system including our liaisons and writing tutors were a crucial part of my success as a first-year student-athlete. If it weren’t for the liaisons I would have gotten lost trying to navigate the add/drop system. The writing tutors were great for multiple reasons. They were easy to access since they were already at our study halls. For players that struggle with formal writing like myself, the tutors made a huge difference in the quality of work we turned in. I was fortunate to have this type of support.”

Sameir Madden '19

*Providing academic support is a team effort at Trinity. Our goal is to ensure that our football players are successful both on the field and in the classroom.

“The academic support program helped me transition from high-school level academics to collegiate level academics. Study hall made sure that I completed my assignments on time and instilled a work ethic in me that I will carry throughout my years at Trinity. The help that the writing tutors have provided has given me confidence when turning in a paper that it was the best it could be. I also extend my gratitude to them for their friendliness, knowledge and support.”

Nick Rose '19

General guidelines of the Team Faculty/Staff Liaison may include:

- * Providing support to all members of the team;
- * Promoting cooperation between intercollegiate athletics, the administration, and the faculty.
- * Assisting in directing student-athletes to access available campus resources, including their college faculty advisor;
- * Identifying other faculty members who can assist student-athletes in meeting their academic obligations;
- * Providing academic counseling when appropriate;
- * Keeping coaches informed of faculty policies and expectations;
- * Writing job or graduate school recommendations when appropriate;
- * Attending athletic practices and contests as their schedule permits;
- * Meeting with prospective student athletes (and parents or guardians) visiting Trinity, and/or identifying faculty members who would be excellent resources for prospective student-athletes to meet;
- * Participating in pre-season athletic orientation with student-athletes, particularly the first years.

Community Service

Historically, the Trinity College football program has dominated on the gridiron. Just as important, the Bantams have made their presence known throughout the Trinity campus and Greater Hartford community as well. The team philosophy is built around discipline, maturity, loyalty, and teamwork, so it comes as no surprise that the Bantams exhibit this leadership off the field and beyond. Giving back has become a part of the culture in the Trinity locker room.

"Community service is an important part of our lives here as Trinity football players. A group of us volunteered at the Hartford Magnet Trinity College Academy in the spring and by simply walking across Broad Street we were able to engage with the community and create special bonds with many of the students and faculty at the magnet school. Our team also partook in the Hartford police anti-violence initiative every Friday night, with groups of athletes joining at PAL to play games and mentor Hartford youths. Getting involved in these programs helped us increase our social awareness and personal knowledge of the greater Hartford community."

Devyn Perkins '20

Trinity's Team IMPACT members Justin and Connor

*Trinity football is heavily involved in the McDonough Mentoring Program, which allows participants to visit a student in the range of third to fifth grade once a week, and do whatever they can to make an impact on the student's life. The players are also very active at the Magnet School across the street and the PAL anti-violence programs hosted on Friday nights.

Alumni Network/Career Services Program

"Career planning for the college student can be a daunting experience at best. Due to the carefully organized collaboration among Coach Devanney and his assistants, the College's superior Career Services office supported by a large number of enthusiastic football alumni, the members of the football team can engage in critically important networking that otherwise might not be available to find that elusive summer internship or long term employment. Moreover, team members are receiving valuable guidance with respect to graduate schools from experienced and active lawyers, businessmen, doctors and educators. It has been a meaningful and fulfilling experience to engage in a program that has resulted in ever more job opportunities as well as the growth and development of exceptional young men who are destined to be winners in life as well as on the football field."

Jim Whitters '62

"Being a Trinity football player goes beyond the four years you spend on campus. We have a special alumni network within our program. Our past players are invested in making sure we win both on and off the field. This is a tradition I take pride in and one that I look forward to continuing after I graduate."

Sameir Madden '19

"The Trinity College football alumni find happiness and joy in giving opportunities to each and every player willing to network and find a job suitable for them. The mentorship program is an advantageous way for each player to be paired up with an alum who provides career advice and guidance in his respective field."

Golf Outing

The Trinity Touchdown Club will hold its annual golf outing in May at the beautiful Wampanoag Club in West Hartford. Going into its 17th year, this has become a great tradition with a reunion type feel. Combined with a silent auction and raffle, the tournament has become the program's biggest fundraiser of the year. Please contact James Lane at jlane04@optonline.net if you would like more information.

The golf outing has been a great event for us. Many of our alumni treat it as a reunion type event. The venue is first class for golf, food, and socializing. The outing has served as our biggest fundraiser of the year and is a really entertaining event.*

Trinity College Head Football Coach Jeff Devanney '93

Having the opportunity to be part of Trinity Football was a privilege and to be able to give back to the next generations of players and coaches to support the meaningful experiences that I received, connects me to my time as player at Trinity and my life today. My closest friendships, 37 years later, remain to be with people who were my team mates at Trinity. That was a gift given to me and it is worth supporting for others to have the same. The Golf Tournament is a perfect opportunity to remain part of the tradition. Go Bantams!!*

Paul Gossling '74

Coach Devanney does a great job with the Golf Tourney. I have been involved since its inception, and it gets better every year! My group always looks forward to reuniting with our former teammates and friends. Meeting the young men who now carry on the tradition is always a pleasure as well. The friends I made via Trinity Football are some of the best friends I ever made. Go Bants!*

Touchdown Club Members

Founded in 2001 and presided over by former Bantam quarterback James Lane '91, the Trinity Touchdown Club consists of former players, coaches, alumni, faculty, and parents. The organization's main goal is to help endow the football program to a level of self-sufficiency as well as assist the coaching staff in the growth and development of the program leveraging the resources of alumni, friends of Trinity football, and team parents.

The Trinity Touchdown Club holds several meetings and special events throughout the year, culminating in the Annual Golf Tournament held in May. The Touchdown Club's golf tournament is fast becoming a great tradition, as it has sold out the last four years. Combined with a silent auction, the golf tournament has become the program's biggest fundraiser and a fun reunion for former Bantams. We would like to invite you to participate in these activities in support of the football program. Please contact James Lane at jlane04@optonline.net if you would like more information.
